ESG Operations, Inc., one of the fastest growing utility operations firms in the nation and the largest in the Southeast, is celebrating fifteen years as a leader in the utility operations industry providing water, wastewater and public works services to local municipalities, government agencies, corporate and business entities. Founded in 2002 by J. Clay Sykes, P.E. and Dan Groselle, P.E., both of whom previously worked for the largest environmental engineering company in the United States, ESG has enjoyed remarkable and steady growth from its first day of operation. With their unique blend of engineering and operations expertise, Mr. Sykes and Mr. Groselle have led ESG to successfully compete with the largest firms in their industry.

“We have never viewed ourselves as a small company. Even from day one, it never dawned on us that we couldn’t be competitive with the national companies,” stated Dan Groselle, co-founder and principal. “If you look at our portfolio of projects, we have what I call top-tier clients from the top to the bottom.”

ESG has remained at the forefront of the utility industry across the past 15 years by providing state-of-the-art services that meet the unique and specific needs of their clients/partners, while also focusing on an unwavering commitment to their employees and the clients and communities they proudly serve.

“ESG is tremendously grateful and proud of the success we have attained over the past 15 years. Although there are many factors which have attributed to our growth and success, the foundation of them all is the talented ESG associates serving our clients across the Southeast. The dedication and commitment to excellence of our employees enables ESG to deliver exemplary service and compete with the largest companies in our industry,” said J. Clay Sykes, co-founder and principal. “ESG has the honor of serving over 1,500,000 citizens daily—and we look forward to continued growth in the years ahead.”
